

“When people come in here they are at their lowest point.
Their first impression of the place will be much better now.”

Sally Gress
Salvation Army director of development

